THE JOURNAL

Journal 24 is now with the printers and should be ready by the late summer.

GOODBYE TO NORTHAMPTONSHIRE ARCHAEOLOGY UNIT

The Northamptonshire Archaeology Unit will cease to exist at the end of June. From 1st July 1993 the Unit will be split between two new Departmental Divisions whose remit more closely reflects the structure of local government in the 1990s.

The present Curatorial Section which includes the Unit's Sites and Monuments Record, will link with members of NCC's Conservation Group, responsible for the built environment, to form 'NORTHAMPTONSHIRE HERITAGE' which will have responsibility for policy, conservation, interpretation, education and all other aspects of the management of Northamptonshire's historic environment.

The existing Contracts Section which carries out fieldwork will become 'NORTHAMPTONSHIRE ARCHAEOLOGY' and will continue to tender for field and consultative work in and outside the County.

The new branches will share existing offices at Wootton Hall Park, Northampton. 'Northamptonshire Heritage' will re-locate to 27 Guildhall Rd, Northampton later in the year (update in a later edition of NASNEWS).
